Karen: So have you had any other good food? What are you going to do for rest of weekend?
me: went to concert last night with Josh and his gf, didn't eat anything fancy yesterday except for my veal parmigan sandwhich me: today's the day I'll probably be eating more interesting stuff, since I'm supposed to meet up with the RT guy and probably David House Karen: How come you took out so much money?
me: pay Josh for ticket, going out drinking afterwards Karen: OK, just scared me a little :) me: k, keep in mind I actually have things to spend money on here, so don't be worryingly watching my bank account Karen: How much was your check for utilities the other day? It hasn't cleared yet.
me: also, heard back from the guy I met me: it was like 90
Karen: whayt'd the guy say> me: well, for some reason he thinks I live in Austin and says he'd be interested in meeting for coffee or beer me: so I'll tell him we should talk via phone instead me: wants to talk about cyber issues, etc Karen: does he live in austin?
me: nope, said he would be there Monday and Tuesday, guessing business, must travel frequently
